Teaching and learning methods

Student-centred methodology is the basis for the methodology in this course unit. Theoretical and practical classes will be alternated. Whenever possible, we shall use the methodology through discovery, in order to allow students to arrive to a series of conclusions by means of data or problems (inductive method). Therefore, cooperative work and oral interaction in class will be promoted.

Assessment methods

1. Continuous evaluation - (Regular, Student Worker) (Final)
 - Intermediate Written Test - 60% (At the end of semester)
 - Practical Work - 40% (Mini-tests on several contents and practical work done in class or at home)
2. Exam evaluation - (Regular, Student Worker) (Supplementary, Special)
 - Final Written Exam - 100%
